The Boyd Family

After referral from United Way's 2-1-1 helped Angela Boyd and her girls bounce back from financial hardship, Boyd's three daughters attended quality preschool through United Way's Success By 6 scholarship program. Boyd also enrolled them in United Way's ReadingPals initiative, which provides one-on-one reading instruction for prekindergarten children.

Gail Peterson

Owning her own home is thrilling to Gail Peterson, who credits United Way's RealSense with making that happen. Attending weekly financial education classes at RealSense Prosperity Place, she learned how to save a little at a time. Peterson now encourages friends and family to watch their finances. Secure in her new home, she is looking to volunteer to help others through RealSense.

Kavell Britten

After chronic discipline issues and struggling to focus in class, Kavell Britten was connected with the Greater Springfield Full Service Schools site. Both Kavell and his mother were actively engaged in treatment, participated in counseling and followed through with recommendations made by the therapist. Today, Kavell is thriving academically and socially.
